Bryant Has a Ball at Winter Formal

On TV-In the Papers Same Week

The week before Christmas vacation was an eventful one for one Bryant miss, Nora Hurley, scholarship-winning Secretarial Senior, was interviewed on WPRO-TV, December 21, a day after a similar interview was published in the "Providence Journal."

Stepping lightly, Bryantites join the fun at the Annual Winter Formal. Sno' Queen Georgianna Brigido and her escort, Frank Sinope dance (center).

Queen Georgianna Reigns

The annual Winter Wonderland dance was held January 11 at the Sheraton-Biltmore Hotel with Bryant's '57 Sno' Queen, Georgianna Brigido holding sway over the festivities.

The dark-eyed Queen was enthroned on a sleigh that was decorated "with a lovely, wintry effect." Two of her ladies in waiting, Gail Gould and Sandy Tuttle, completed the regal setting.

No doubt about it, the dance was a great success.

The music of Ralph Stuart was reported as "excellent" and kept the large crowd on the dance floor throughout the evening. Bob Radican, who chairmanned the committee for the formal, reports that the Stuart ensemble was made to play four good night songs in order to clear the hall.

Those who liked to sit a few out found ample refreshments. Attention was centered on the royal party and the bandstand.

The Student Senate sponsored the annual dance party.

Individual credit goes to committeemen Don Ismay, Don Pfister, Pete Carando, Judy Ferren, Dick Newton, Carolyn Girelli, Henry Gaudet, and Ken Cedergran for their work contributing to the success of the '57 formal through their efforts in connection with the decoration and music provided.

Radican Gets Vote of Confidence

Senate Elects New Slate

Elections for offices in the Student Senate, student governing body of the college, were held Monday, January 14. The results:

BOB RADICAN RE-ELECTED PRESIDENT. Radican, seasoned leader of the student group, was re-elected to an additional term in office on a majority ballot. Contesting his re-election were Don Pfister, President Greek Letter Council; Don Esmay, former Senate Vice-President, and Peter Carando.

PETER CARANDO ELECTED VEEP. Defeating Don Esmay, who ran for re-election to the post, and Rocco Lancia, Peter Carando gained the office of Vice-President for the coming semester.

JUDY FERREN HOLDS POST AS SECRETARY. Down- ing two popular contestants for the office of Secretary, Judy Ferren succeeded in winning re-election to the post she has held during the past semester.

JOE ZALUCKI NAMED TREASURER. Joe Zalucki was voted to hold the position of Treasurer of Student Senate over rival candidates Walt Fitzgerald and Dick Newton.

The new slate of officers, including those re-elected, will take command of the student government for the forthcoming semester.

Nora Hurley

Each time, Nora was queried concerning holiday customs in her native land. Nora comes from Shanacran, Dunmanway, County Cork, in the Republic of Ireland, and now resides with her sister Eileen, a recent Bryant graduate, and an aunt and uncle here in Providence.

In both the newspaper and television interviews, Nora gave some interesting facts about the manner in which the Irish people celebrate Christmas, New Year's Eve, and Epiphany in Eire.

Nora, a recipient of the Jeremiah C. Barber Scholarship award, plans to graduate from the two-year Secretarial course in February.

APK Holds Formal, Elects Officers

A pledgee formal was held Saturday evening at Lindy's. Each sister received a very attractive favor.

Election of officers was held and Thelma Kingsley was elected President; Vice-President, Margaret Giroux; Corresponding Secretary, June Knight; Recording Secretary, Beverly Barna; Treasurer, Patricia Killian; Athletic Director, Nancy Rose; Alumni Secretary, Joan Bristol; and Worthy Guard, Doreen Gooding.

In sports, Delta Sigma Chi overtook Alpha Phi Kappa by two games in bowling. High scorer for the day was Patricia Killian with a 92.

Bryant Grad to Serve U. S. in Orient

Mr. R. A. duHamel, who was graduated from Bryant College in 1929, will serve as a member of a U. S. foreign trade group.

The following article was quoted from the Providence Sunday Journal Business Weekly of January 6.

"Late next month, a Wickford resident will say 'good-bye' to his wife, Ruth, and their three sons for about two months."

In those eight weeks, he will visit Burma, the Malay Peninsula and other Far Eastern points as a representative of the United States.

He is R. A. duHamel, manager of the Transportation and Foreign Trade Division of Commerce since October, 1955.

Mr. duHamel has been chosen by the U. S. Department of Commerce to be a member of a foreign trade mission. He, a Commerce Department official, and an estimated three other American businessmen will comprise the team.

This group will attend a special briefing session in Washington from January 28 through February 1. On February 21, the team leaves by plane for its first overseas briefing in Rangoon, Burma. On March 18, it will fly to Singapore and between then and April 7, will visit Kuala Lumpur and Penang on the Malay Peninsula.

On April 8, the unit will move to Hong Kong and will return to this country about a week later.

Paul R. Ladd, manager of the Greater Providence Chamber of Commerce, says the chamber's executive committee was happy to lend Mr. duHamel's services to the government.

Dean Mercier Presides at Barnard Club Meeting in Gym

Co-operation between parents and the schools was the topic that highlighted the second of four annual luncheon meetings of the Barnard Club, 78-year-old organization of men educators.

The meeting, held at this college on January 12, brought together educators from all corners of Rhode Island. The leading speakers on better communication between parents and the schools were (for parents) Mr. Steward Case of East Greenwich, former chairman of the White House Conference on Education and (for the schools) Mr. Bernard F. Norton, President of the R. I. Students Association. After the speeches, both sides of the topic were discussed by the club members. One of the suggestions offered was to provide parents with a better understanding of the aims of the school systems through the preparation and distribution of a brochure that would serve as an agent for the schools in emphasizing the goals of education to the parents.

Dean Lionel Mercier, as president of the club, presided over the meeting. Dean Wilbur also attended the meeting.

The next luncheon meeting is scheduled for March 16, at which time the discussion topic will relate to co-operation between industry and the schools.

Maroon Trounces Green 72-52 in Genie Fund Game; Peterson Stars

A capacity crowd saw the Maroon led by Peterson, Allen, Ferreira and Blinn decisively beat the Delahanty-coached Green squad in the Genie Fund-sponsored All-Star game.

The game got off to a fast start with Maroon taking a slight edge at the end of the first frame.

Summers, Gayer and Rogers led the way for the Green with their passing-shooting combination. Allen and Ferreira did most of Maroon's playmaking and set up most of their scores.

In the second period, Maroon poured it on, breaking through the Green's defense time and time again, so that by half time they had an 11-point lead.

Peterson paced the Maroon, Veritas the Green in the second frame.

The third and fourth periods saw the Maroon really pile it on. Combinations of Allen and Peterson, Ferreira and Blinn constantly resulted in scoring. As the final buzzer sounded, Green found themselves on the short end of a 72-52 score.

The game had many high spots and saw the school's champs in action. The Green had such outstanding players as Pete Veritas, who contributed 10 points and did a lot of rebounding. Gus Summers, the league's high-scorer, wound up with 12 points and was high for the Green. Richy Gayer showed the crowd why he is known as one of the greater "little men" on the hardwood. He displayed his dribbling and passing ability to the crowd's delight. Rogers and the Flamingos' McGowan contributed greatly to Green's participation.

For Maroon, Hal Peterson stood out and stole the show. He amazed onlookers with his jump, hook, set and layup shots that resulted in 28 points, high for any man on any team.

Hal also proved a valuable man on the blackboards. He was not the only one out there, though. Bob Blinn proved why he is called an outstanding all-round athlete and showed why they call him a giant on the rebounds. Bob contributed 12 points worth of nets. Joe Ferreira showed his ability to handle the ball and faked his way through tight squeezes with great skill. He is one of the better driving guards in the league and just about proved that with his 10 points.

Joe Kirwan, who possesses one of the best jump shots in the league, had a great many good plays of the rebounding type at the All-Star game. That was one of the deciding factors.

The Maroon also received a great deal of help from the speedy Jack Allen and Jack Zazula.

Maroon Team

Green Team

Girls' Basketball

In the second game, which saw McCann's Maulers outdue Brady's Bearcats 50-52, the crowd witnessed a lot of excitement in the field of girls' basketball. Joan Bannerman paced the game and Joan St. Godard hit 17 points. Mary Lou Conway hit 20 for the victorious Maulers. Elaine Egan, SIB star forward, was high for the night with 24 points on 12 field goals and 2 fouls.

Delta Omega Final Meeting at Admiral Inn; Members Hear Three Speakers

The Delta Omega Professional Society held its final dinner-speaker meeting of the current semester on Monday, January 14, at the Admiral Inn.

The guest speakers were Mr. James Kavanagh of the Grinnell Corporation, Mr. Harold Stallwood of the Gorham Manufacturing Company, and Mr. Herbert Hanson of the Davol Rubber Company. All of the speakers are members of the Providence Chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants. Mr. Kavanagh outlined the financial organization chart and explained the important part the accountant has in a manufacturing organization.

Mr. Stallwood discussed the present and future of machine accounting, with emphasis on the need to cut administrative costs in a manufacturing organization.

Mr. Hanson's discussion of self-analysis proved of interest to the many seniors, who will be graduated in February.

More than 100 members and guests were present to witness the introduction of the Society's new officers: Joseph Garofalo, President; Linwood Albert, Vice-President; Patricia Baptist, Secretary; Richard Martin, Treasurer; Anthony Giglio, Historian.

On the Sidelines

By LARRY DELAHUNTY

The sports front at Bryant was livened a little in recent weeks when the Taupeps defeated Chi Gamma Iota, 32-28. This defeat suffered by Chi Gamma puts the league in a three-way tie for 1st place between Phi Sig, Chi Gamma, and the Toweps. Each team has one loss on its record.

The once defunct "Flamingos" team is now back in business. Ralph Perlberg has taken over as player-coach of the team. After seeing the "Flamingos" play, it seems that if they would get together and play ball to the best of their ability, they could very easily be in contention for the top of the league.

At a recent Athletic Directors' meeting, the rules drawn up at the beginning of the year were given their first real test in the midst of a mild argument. As a result, the rules were found to be much stronger than was anticipated. However, after listening to reasoning, we must agree that the only fair and logical thing to do is to have everybody abide by them for the rest of the season. This means that there will be no changes in the roster next semester except for any new students that may be added to a team roster. There is no limit to the number of names that may be added.

A protest board was set up at the meeting for the purpose of hearing and ruling upon any arguments that a team may have regarding the loss of a game. The board members include Joe Lemieux, Duke Dumaine, Jim Costa, Larry Delahanty, and Ken Cedergren.

The highlighted Genie Fund All-Star Game was successful. There was a large turnout for it and, although the scores weren't close, there was a high caliber of ball played. Peterson of the Maroons and Summers of the Green were outstanding in the game.

Looking into the future, I seem to visualize Chi Gamma and Tan Ep competing for top honors in the softball league with Phi Sig a possibility. . . . Fran DiLegio will be returning to school in February, and will take over the coaching reins of Phi Sig's basketball teams. . . . Tom "Sonnie" Davies, well known in the Bryant Sports World, is leaving school in February but will be returning next September. Davies will be missed by the many friends he has made on campus. . . . The next sports program to look forward to is the Student-Faculty game which should come up the first of next semester. Understand that the faculty talent is much stronger this year than it has been in the past. However, the students still maintain a slight edge in youth, although one might think that some of us are making a career out of Bryant. . . . If any of you are interested in writing sports articles for the ARCHWAY next semester, leave your name in an ARCHWAY box or get in touch with yours truly. . . . That's all for this issue, folks.

Arrows Down Flamingos, 42-35

The Arrows, led by Gus Summers, took an early lead and continued on to an EZ victory. Lowder and Brown were the big offensive punch for the losers by splitting the nets for 10 points each. Gus continued his scoring spree by hitting for 26 which also widened his margin on his rivals for scoring honors.

BIB Ruins Phi Sig B's, 55-36

The Maroon & White got off to an early lead and put together some good passing and defense work to make the Green & Yellow an easy foe. Bill Dearstyne and Dick Cooper paced BIB to victory with 14 and 15 respectively. Jack Handley continued to pace his ball club with a great set shot. He hit a score of 14 for the night.

Chi Gamma Wallops SLP, 50-22

After losing its first game of the season, the Maroon came back strong to defeat SLP with ease. At half time, SLP was down 2 points, but at the start of the third Ferreira, Lemieux and Haggerty combined forces to run up a low-point lead which proved too much for the losers. Carando and Fiedler played exceptional ball and paced SLP with 10 and 8 respectively, while Haggerty was high for Chi Gam with 12.

Flamingos Edge Beta Sig, 33-32

In the closing seconds, McGowan split the nets and gave his club another victory. It was a nip 'n' tuck battle all the way, with Ottoman and Tippy McCann the standouts in the Blue and Yellow ranks. While Lubinsky set up most of the scoring, Perlberg and McGowan led the redbirds to victory with 9 and 8 respectively. McCann again was high man with lead score of 10 points for the losing team.

Phi Sig B's Beaten by Flamingos, 50-29

The Green & Yellow continued a losing streak by dropping another to the redbirds. Perlberg and McGowan teamed up to pace their team to victory. Their high and better ball handling proved the deciding factor. Jack Handley and Jack Zazula led the Green & Yellow with 14 and 10, while Perlberg was high man for the game with 16 points.

Owens-Corning Personnel Man Speaks

The post-holiday round of seminars and interviews for Bryant Juniors and Seniors commenced Wednesday, January 9 with Mr. Frank Milligan of Owens-Corning Fibreglass Company speaking to Management majors concerning opportunities in industrial management.

Mr. Milligan, personnel director of the Ashton, Rhode Island plant of Owens-Corning, skimmed through a brief history of his company, which has grown tremendously in the past fifteen years. With seven plants scattered throughout the country Owens-Corning has increased its gross sales from a quarter million dollars in 1941 to $175 million in 1955.

Launching into his main topic, recruiting college men for jobs in industrial firms, he explained that the field of study pursued by students in college does not determine their future positions in the business world. Citing several Bryant graduates as examples, he emphasized that several students who had majored in accounting at Bryant were working as production men, industrial engineers, and researchers at the Ashton plant. These men had been schooled in the Owens training program; and from the aptitude that they had shown, they had been placed in the positions best fitted for them. As a further illustration of this point, Mr. Milligan offered his own record, which showed that he had aspired to a teaching career (graduating from R. I. C. E.) but had ended up in personnel work.

In elaborating on the recruiting program, Mr. Milligan pointed out that close liaison between department heads and personnel directors is necessary in instituting such a plan. As a graphic illustration, he outlined the plan followed by the Ashton plant. This formula for filling recruitment needs consisted of several requisitions that are issued by the personnel department to department heads to determine personnel needs in all parts of the plant. The completed requisitions are used by top management in setting up their recruiting program. The needs are outlined to the company recruiters, who then must fill them.

Following his talk, Mr. Milligan touched on several points of interest concerning a recruiter-student interview. He noted the most important qualities that the recruiter looks for as being personality, dress, mannerisms, and poise. The ability to express himself verbally was of the utmost value to a student in an interview, Mr. Milligan also stated.

Other visitors to the Bryant campus in the past two weeks were representatives from Crane Company, who interviewed students for their sales trainee program, and from Sears, Roebuck and Company, who were looking for auditors.

Another Seminar speaker, Mr. Gilmore Bray of the Commercial Credit Corporation, spoke to Juniors and Seniors concerning the field of sales finance on Friday, January 18. Mr. Bray, a Bryant graduate, holds the office of vice-president of this top credit firm.

work materially in the Transportation and Foreign Trade Division," he emphasizes. "He has encouraged Rhode Island firms and has given good service and information to them."

"We believe he will make a worthwhile contribution to the government's plans to sell our American free enterprise system abroad," Mr. Ladd adds, "and, of course, he will be even better able to serve us here because of a better acquaintance with foreign nations, business and their representatives."

Mr. Ladd notes that the Chamber of Commerce has established an Industrial Consulting Service and a Convention Bureau and has also stepped up its Transportation and Foreign Trade Division service.

"We want to serve our local industries," he says, "and help them broaden their markets and their sales. It's all part of what we call our Expansion Program."

(The chamber also is a cooperative office of the U. S. Department of Commerce and operates, too, through the affiliated Foreign Trade Club.)

"The objective of the Foreign Trade Mission is to meet as many businessmen as possible and to discuss with them mutual problems in the field of two-way trade expansion," Mr. duHamel explains.

"We're going over there to further trade, to answer questions, and to sell our way of government, life, and business," he continues.

"Really, we'll be there to sell the United States."

Mr. duHamel offers the following background on the Foreign Trade Mission Program, part of the government's International Trade Fair Program:

For many years, international trade fairs have been a very important part of business in Europe and Asia. They have traditionally served as a means of bringing seller and buyer together.

In recent years, Red China and Soviet Russia have intensified their interest in and activity at these trade fairs but not until 1954 did a program for U. S. participation begin under the proposal of President Eisenhower.

"This program is really paying off," says Mr. duHamel. "In the first two years, the United States participated in trade fairs in 21 countries across the world and its exhibits were viewed by an audience estimated at 20 million persons."

American exhibits (which, to the present time, have been set up only at the larger trade fairs) have emphasized the free enterprise system and its business and production advantages, Mr. duHamel explains.

Who's Who at Bryant

Tom Hart

Tom Hart, a 25-year-old Air Force veteran from Staten Island, New York, is a well-known figure on the Bryant Campus.

After graduating from Curtis High School on Staten Island, Tom went to work on the New York Stock Exchange and then enlisted in the United States Air Force. Tom was stationed at various bases in the United States and overseas in Saudi Arabia, where he was a radio announcer and disc jockey for the Air Force Radio Station.

Tom entered Bryant in 1955 and has been very active in campus activities since that time. His extracurricular activities include bowling, basketball, softball, touch football, and working on the ARCHWAY staff. The many offices he has held include President and Vice-President of Tau Epsilon Fraternity, member of the Greek Letter Council, and Chaplain of the 2:30 club.

Tom is one of, if not the leading socialite on the Bryant Campus. He attends almost every college dance, party, and sports event.

Tom likes all types of music, especially jazz; and he is often seen dressed in his red plaid cap jitterbugging at parties.

Tom is a candidate for a degree in merchandising in August of 1957.

Carolyn Girelli

Carolyn Girelli, president of her class at Bryant College, was graduated from Mount Pleasant High School in 1955. While at Mount Pleasant, she was active on the School yearbook staff.

Her activities in her sorority are noteworthy of mention. She was president of Sigma Iota Beta and represented her sorority in the Greek Letter Council. She can always be found at SIB parties; for ordinarily, she is the chairman of the many social functions. This semester, she is chairman of the Pledge Banquet. Carolyn is now acting in the capacity of treasurer—the task is that she is a hard person to get money from.

Carolyn has been president of her class for four consecutive semesters; consequently, she has been a very active member of the Student Senate. She has been on many committees within the Student Senate and has done a very good job at all the many tasks she has been given. Along with the many activities, Carolyn still found time to be an active participant on the ARCHWAY staff.

Carolyn's enthusiastic spirit is evident. She is a true friend to all who know her—this is backed by her willingness to lend a helping hand to anyone.

Sigma Lambda Theta Elects

Election of Theta's officers took place Thursday and ended up in the following results: Sheila Mulligan, president; Mary Lou Conway, vice president; Barbara Curry, secretary; Judy Everts, treasurer; Gail Eaton, assistant treasurer; Elaine Houle, athletic director; Helen Paniccia, sergeant-at-arms; Marilyn Jenkins, pledge mistress; and Ginny Dube, alumni secretary. Here's hoping that this year's officers do as good a job as last year's did!

"We, the members of the trade mission, will be on hand to talk with foreign businessmen," he says. "Our embassies and consulates already have arranged meetings and talks for us with foreign trade groups and individuals."

"When I return," Mr. duHamel says, "I want to report fully to folks here in Rhode Island. I hope to induce them to launch into foreign trade. Perhaps many more Rhode Island firms could take advantage of the opportunities offered in foreign trade, today."

Honor System for Dorm Girls

Boston, Mass.—(I.P.) An experiment in group living whereby an undergraduate women's residence at Boston University is governed without University rules was begun this year at 531 Beacon Street and is proving "highly successful," according to Dean of Women Elsbeth Melville.

At informal monthly meetings, the 30 girls set the evening hours they will return to the house, discuss problems which occur in group living, and plan house activities. The result of the experiment thus far "is a sense of loyalty... that could never be as outstanding in a larger dorm," declares Nancy J. Lee, president of "531."

To provide for the safety of the "last girl in" at night, the residents have devised a plan centered around an alarm clock. Miss Lee explained the system as follows: When signing out for the evening, each girl states the time she expects to return. The second-to-last returning girl sets an alarm clock outside her door for 15 minutes after the "last girl" is expected. Upon returning, the "last girl" turns off the alarm. If she doesn't return when expected the alarm will rouse the residents.
